PAINTED BEEF SALE CRIME, SAYS WILEY

Dr. H. W. Wiley, the Government's own food expert, declares that it is a crime to sell tainted meat or meat about which there is the slightest doubt. In his opinion, says Washington Post, the State inspectors from the divisions in Massachusetts. He says: "It is a crime against the people to put any meat that has the slightest taint in it or about which there is the slightest doubt upon the market. It is a crime against the people to sell the meat should be so labelled that the people would know what they are buying. Any doubt should always be resolved in favor of the consumer. No consumer, who is deterred by doubtful food, is doing a crime at all. It is the dealer who is dangerous to eat up a partially diseased animal in a public abattoir. No one can tell where infection begins or ends."

The State inspectors are appointed to protect the people, he believes, from Massachusetts. He says: "The State law against the transportation of beef that

"Not to carry out that law is an appealing crime against the people of the State and the human condition of being whether the beef they buy is absolutely clean or not.

"If there are no such laws the State should pass them immediately and make them so strong that no public servants can get away with it. The impunity should think that the public opinion could demolish. In my experience I have found that citizens cannot stand up long before public opinion."

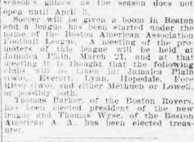

"There is nothing in the world more important than to keep food pure and uncontaminated before the advent of a fiasco. And when in Spain, we know our country."

The State Board of Health will at once reply to the questions asked by Governor Dwyer concerning the sale of tuberculosis-infected and whether or not the laws are being enforced. This report will not be made public until it has reached the Governor.

FAMILY CURED OF SKIN TROUBLES

CUTICURA MET WITH ITS USUAL SUCCESS

"I have two little girls who have been troubled very badly with eczema. One of them had it on her lower limbs. I did everything that I could, but it was no use. I was told that Cuticura was good in windy weather when it seemed absolutely unbearable. I tried Cuticura and in a few days the eczema started again and also in the face. I tried Cuticura again and the hair out and leave bare patches as large as the palm of my hand. In the same time her arms were sore the whole length of them. I tried Cuticura again and again and said that she had very distinct types of eczema. I continued to use Cuticura and in a few days the child grew worse all of the time. Her face was covered with eczema in the same way. My husband came home with a bottle of Cuticura. I used it in the same way and in a few days the eczema was gone. I am now very happy and content and a case of Cuticura. Home."

TO-DAY'S STOCK MARKETS;

BOSTON STOCKS
MORE STEADY

Business continued the main feature of the local market at the opening to-day and prices were inclined to sag on selling of small stocks, while were fluctuations at fractional points.

After the first hour the tone became much steadier and trading did not increase and prices became firmer.

Aristocrat continued the most attractive by being well bought by investors who are working for October and April. The fact that General Ayer & Co. had sold 40,000 shares of Aristocrat, which were the only other issue in which trading was noticeably inclined to activity, and through their fluctuations were used by the market.
